Sauvignon Blanc

Sauvignon Blancs are light to medium bodied dry whites with particular tropical fruit salad type characters on the palate. The NZ versions are very pungent on the nose and full of flavour, whereas the Australian versions are similar but much more delicate. Either way you will not go wrong.

WHITE WINES

Varietal

Varietal whites are becoming very popular especially the Pinot Gris and Pinot Grigio grape variety. The same grape is made in two distinct wine styles. The Pinot Gris is typically made in the French style, that is, it is picked later and riper, making them richer and fuller bodied. Pinot Grigio is made in the Italian style, and is usually picked earlier than Pinot Gris, and as a result it is generally lighter, drier and crisper on the palate. The other varieties offer flavours and characters that will complement the menu to the fullest. Bon Appétit!

Folonari Pinot Grigio (Italy)	8.0 / 32.0
Chain of Ponds Novello Pinot Grigio	34.0
Hentley Farm Pinot Grigio	38.0
Babich Pinot Gris (NZ)	9.0 / 36.0

Sweeter Style

Sweeter style whites are becoming very popular, especially the Moscato style. They are lower in alcohol content and as such are achieving a rise in popularity. Do not be put off by the sweetness as they do compliment food that has a lot of spice and chilli. Best drunk very cold' the Moscato is the sweetest and the other wines on the list are "less sweet".

Rezz Moscato	7.0 / 28.0
Yellow Tail Moscato	28.0
